

THE PIANO MAN

Exclusive Interview with Paul Maxwel

“Music is a magical thing and to share it with people and perform is always a great experience.”

Have you always wanted to be a musician?

Yes as far as I remember, if you're a born musician you'll always love being a musician.

Where did you learn to play?

I started playing drums from a very early age and my parents forced me to learn the piano. I hated it at the time but I am very grateful today.

Who is your inspiration?

My family and my dog are my true inspiration, they are the reason I do what I do.

How did your passion develop into a career?

I started performing from 14 so I don't know anything else. I've always just performed. I feel very lucky as I love music and have been able to make a living from it and it's an adventurous and exciting career.

Where do you perform on the coast? and overseas?

My main work is private events, corporate events, concerts and private parties mainly in Europe. However I do have a few regular venues on the coast as I live in Marbella. Including La Sala on Monday nights, which is great fun and one of my favorite venues. Sometimes I also perform at the Don Carlos Hotel and Vitania Beach Club. I travel very often to Holland and Germany. I love the Dutch, they have really supported me over the years but I can't seem to get the hang of the language!

Are you available for private events?

Always! I love doing private parties, as it's always a fantastic atmosphere and its great to be part of someone's special day.

What has been your most memorable performance?

I have had so many it's too hard to choose! My mother once told me you're only as good as your last performance so I always try to make every night memorable in some sort of way. Seeing people enjoy themselves at my events makes me very happy!

Are you looking forward to supporting Michael Bolton? Have you always been a fan?

Yes! I can't wait! I've always loved Michael's music and his incredible vocal range. I was brought up listening to him and he has written some great songs! It's an honour to be performing at his concert and I have a lot of respect for artists who have been in the business so long. I just hope he has time to have a little chat!

What artist would you most like to collaborate with if you had the chance?

Any artist as long as they are nice people and there is a musical connection. Music is a magical thing and to share it with people and perform is always a great experience.

Paul Maxwel, also known as The Piano Man, began his career at an early age and now performs all over Europe primarily for private events. Tonight Paul Maxwel is supporting the legend, Michael Bolton in this intimate concert at The Puente Romano Hotel.
